

MINISTERIAL CODE OF ETHICS – INDIANA MINISTRIES OF THE CHURCH OF GOD

Theological and Biblical Foundations

- We believe in the triune God who creates all that lives and who passionately desires to rejoice in our worship and in our love for God and others. God’s general call is extended to all humans in every time and place. We confess that sin mars the relationship with God and with one another. Yet, in Jesus Christ, through the continuing power of the Holy Spirit, we are saved to new life as whole persons in communion with the triune God, and with all others in the body of Christ.
- We as ministers acknowledge both God’s specific call on our lives extended to us in Jesus Christ and the church’s call affirming God’s anointing on our lives. We are “shepherds of God’s flock” (1Peter 5:2-4) and are committed to the unity of all believers (John 17:20-23). We do not exist simply for ourselves but as Jesus taught his disciples, that they are to serve as he served: giving his life as a ransom for many (Mark 10:42-45). While we know that God through the Holy Spirit gifts and empowers us to be the best for God, we also realize our obligation to proclaim good news, to teach, and to help God’s people live faithful lives as those who are in the presence of, and anticipate the soon-to-come, glorious kingdom of God.
- We, therefore, understand that no minister can do the work of the kingdom alone, without the community of others. We further acknowledge the necessity of being in communion with all our brothers and sisters, but particularly with our colleagues in ministry, knowing that what one does to promote God’s kingdom encourages all of us, and what one does that brings dishonor to the body of Christ harms all of us.
- Hence, we seek to surrender our lives daily to the authority of the triune God, and through him we also will seek to honor others in service to God’s kingdom by how we live our lives consistent with the journey of faith to which God has called us all.

PREAMBLE

This Ministerial Code of Ethics establishes expectations of moral and ethical standards of behavior to be adhered to by all persons commissioned, licensed, or credentialed by Indiana Ministries of the Church of God (Anderson, Indiana). This code applies primarily to pastors and ministers serving in congregations. Professionally trained pastoral counselors, family and marriage counselors, chaplains of the Armed Forces, and other institutional chaplains should conform – in addition to appropriate sections of this Code – to the covenants and codes of ethics appropriate to these specialized ministries. Although it is generally assumed that ministers will behave ethically, church groups often also assume that all persons will agree on what constitutes ethical behavior. However, reality indicates that such assumptions are occasionally incorrect. Therefore, although the following is not a legal document and cannot alone create an ethical person, we attempt here to establish in writing our expectations for professional conduct for all persons who engage in ministry on behalf of Indiana Ministries of the Church of God.

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

1. I will act in ways that uphold and enhance the honor, integrity, morality, and dignity of the profession.
2. I will limit my activities to positions and responsibilities for which I am qualified.
3. I will maintain confidentiality in all my relationships, recognizing, however, the limitations placed on confidentiality with regard to the safety and well-being of all persons.
4. I will maintain honesty in all communication and refrain from gossip. I will “speak the truth in love.”

8. I will regard all persons with equal respect and care and undertake to serve all with impartiality.
9. I will avoid seeking personal favors, advantages, or discounts based on my professional status.
10. If serving in ministry outside a local church, I will serve as an active member in a congregation while respecting the position of the pastor.
11. I will respect and work cooperatively with all members of Indiana Ministries of the Church of God.

13. If for any reason my level of functioning is impaired because of declining emotional or spiritual well being, I will seek the counsel of a trusted colleague or support group, or obtain professional help. After such counsel, if I (come to) believe my ministerial effectiveness is severely compromised; I will seek guidance from the state minister.

RELATIONSHIP WITH FAMILY

12. I will conduct my financial affairs responsibly and avoid conflicts of interest, never involving or seeking to involve parishioners in business endeavors for my financial benefit.
13. I will not take financial advantage of those I serve; I will exercise discretion in accepting gifts from members and acknowledge the possible tax consequences of honoraria and gifts.
14. I will seek and be open to the counsel of the state minister, should divisive tensions develop that threaten my relationship with those I serve.
15. I will not engage in sexual harassment and will be careful to keep the local congregation free of such violation of persons.

16. I will maintain appropriate boundaries between myself and parishioners, recognizing the danger inherent in dual personal and vocational relationships.
17. I will take care to avoid any impropriety in pastoral counseling relationships.
18. I affirm the value of pastoral counseling; however, realizing that I am a spiritual counselor and not a trained therapist, I will refer parishioners to an appropriately trained counselor in cases beyond my expertise.
19. I will encourage persons to resolve their conflicts constructively, following the Matthew 18 pattern, and will help to facilitate the process to the extent I am able.
20. I will both respect and honor the Church of God's theological positions (e.g. stances as expressed in Church Of God General Assembly resolutions and motions related to racism, LGBTQ+, women in ministry, and other concerns) in my preaching, teaching, counseling, and personal conversations. I realize this is part of my covenantal accountability as an ordained minister of the Church of God.

RELATIONSHIP WITH COLLEAGUES

1. I will speak kindly and respectfully about all colleagues in ministry.
2. I will promote the ministry of colleagues, rejoicing with them in their victories and weeping with them through their challenges.
3. I will abstain from interfering directly or indirectly with the work and ministry of another.

14. I will not proselytize from other churches; I will cooperate with colleagues in neighboring churches.

15. I will protect the integrity of staff relationships. Whether I am in a leadership or supportive role, I will guard diligently against any behavior that might undermine those relationships. If I have personal differences with another staff member, I will absolutely refrain from discussing those relationships with anyone other than that person, and I will actively pursue resolving those differences peacefully only with the person involved, again following the Matthew 18 pattern.

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE COMMUNITY

1. I will endeavor to be a moral and spiritual example in the community.
2. I will seek a faithful balance between my pastoral/ministerial duties toward the local congregation I serve and the obligation to extend Christ's witness into the broader community.
3. I will seek to serve the broader community in ways that preserve life-giving values and resist life-denying ones.
4. I will share in maintaining with others the proper stewardship of all of God's creation, contributing wholesomely to the lives of all.
